3rd Annual Mellanby Centre Research Day

Thursday 21 June 2012

The Edge Conference Centre
University of Sheffield

We are pleased to invite you to the 3rd Annual Mellanby Centre Research Day, to be held at The Edge Conference Centre at The University of Sheffield on Thursday 21 June 2012.

The aims of this annual meeting are to:

- present current research activities within the Mellanby Centre
- foster collaboration between the research groups within the Centre and the University
- foster collaboration between the Centre and with external academic and industry partners.

The programme will include opportunities for discussion and participation. The meeting is an opportunity to present your research, network and exchange ideas. Delegates are encouraged to submit abstracts, with the highest scoring abstracts being selected for oral presentation, and all other abstracts selected for poster presentations.

A social event including nibbles and drinks will follow the meeting.

There will be a number of external speakers who will cover a range of clinical and basic science areas with potential application across the spectrum of musculoskeletal disease, with the aim of increasing awareness of the activities and skills of the many research groupings within The Centre and generating new research ideas and collaborations within and beyond The Centre.

Deadline for abstract submission 18 May 2012

Deadline for registration 8 June 2012

Please see the Mellanby Centre website for details of how to submit abstracts, or email mellanbycentre@sheffield.ac.uk for more information.

Best wishes,

Mellanby Centre Management Committee.
