

University of Sheffield, Department of Psychology Seminars

(All seminars are on Fridays at 1pm in the Department's Lecture Theatre unless otherwise stated)

10 February 2012

Dr Louise Arseneault, Kings College London

"Bullying victimisation and its harmful effect on children's mental health problems and responses to stress"

17 February 2012

Prof Orla Muldoon, University of Limerick

"Post-Traumatic Stress: The role of Groups, Identity and Politics"

24 February 2012

Dr Atsushi Senju, Birbeck College

"Typical and atypical development of spontaneous social cognition"

2 March 2012

Dr Jane Speight, Deakin University Australia

"Managing diabetes and preventing it's complications: what makes the difference?"

9 March 2012

Dr Richard Plant, Department of Psychology, University of Sheffield

"Why do I need to know about data management?"

16 March 2012

Dr Nathan Lepora, Department of Psychology, University of Sheffield

"Of rats and robots: Optimal perception with a synthetic basal ganglia"

23 March 2012

Dr Jennifer McBride, University College London

"Automatic motor activation and control"

30 March 2012

Dr Liat Levita, University of York

"Approach with caution: The role of the nucleus accumbens in avoidance and anxiety"

27 April 2012

Dr Nico Vautrelle, Department of Psychology, University of Sheffield

"Dopamine made me do it but what did I learn"

4 May 2012

Dr Anna Weighall, Sheffield Hallam University

"The role of sleep and memory consolidation in children's vocabulary acquisition"

11 May 2012

Prof Pete Redgrave, Department of Psychology, University of Sheffield

"Goal-directed and habitual control in the basal ganglia: implications for Parkinson's disease"

18 May 2012

Memorial Seminar for Michael Siegal: <http://shef.ac.uk/psychology/staff/academic/michael-siegal>

For more information please contact Josie Cassidy – j.cassidy@sheffield.ac.uk